yew Ballroom Opened and Handsomely pecerated-Many Handsome Favors at the Cotilion-Large Dinner Party in Honor of Duchess of Mariborough

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 28.-The big event the day in Newport society was the ball given to-night at Beechwood by Mrs. William Astor, it being the occasion of the pening of the new ballroom. Mrs. Astor and arranged to give the ball to-morrow aight, but she changed the date in order hat the gentlemen might have an opporunity to attend the Futurity on Saturday. Mrs. Astor received in the small room the ballroom and was assisted by John Jacob Astor and Mrs. M. Orme Wilson. The ballroom was handsomely decorated with American Beauty Supper was served in the dining room and on the veranda. There were fifty tables decorated with pink and red flowers, while the piazza was lined with a latticework of vines, being met overhead with bright-colored flowers.

After supper there was a cotillon, the leaders being Mr. Elisha Dyer, Jr., and Mr. Harry S. Lehr, they dancing with Mrs. John Jacob Astor and Mrs. M. Orme Wilson. The favors were gilt baskets, gilt scissors, lower sprays, leghorn hats, canes, flower sachets and many other articles. Following the cotillon there was a second supper, and this was followed by general dancing.

Among the 500 guests present was the Duchess of Mariborough.
Previous to the ball there was a large dinner party given by Mrs. I. Townsend Burden at Fairlawn, in honor of the Duchess f Marlborough. There was a fashionable gathering at the

There was a fashionable gathering at the Casino Theatre this morning at a recital given by Count Guardabassi, the barytone, who was assisted by Mrs. Cheatham Thompson, who took the cottagers by storm by her negro melodies; Mr. Marczi de Zoldj, the Hungarian violinist, and M. and Mme. Breitner, plano and violin.

There was some excitement on Bellevue avenue this morning. Just before noon Mr. Alfred G. Vanderbilt's horse and runa-Mr. Alfred G. Vanderbit's noise and runa-bout were seen coming up the avenue at breakneck speed, no occupant being in the vehicle. It was at first reported that Mr. Vanderbilt had been thrown out and in-jured, but on investigation this was found not to be so, the horse starting from the

This afternoon an automobile frightened the horse driven by Miss Mauran, who was driving out with another woman, and as a result they barely escaped serious injury. A racing automobile driven by a French chauffeur passed the horse, which took fright and upset the carriage, the two women being thrown to the ground. Miss Mauran was cut about the face and was sent home in another carriage.

Luncheons were given this afternoon by Miss Travers, Miss Anna Leary, Mrs. George B. Deforest and Mr. Pembroke Jones, the latter being on board the yacht Narada. This evening cottage dinners

HAD TWO DESERTED BRIDES. Phylizky Was Living With Still Another Wife When Caught.

Mary Felochinski, a Polish woman, 30 rears old. was employed as a servant at 531 Fifth street last April and had $239 in a house called and asked her one day if she wished to get married. She said she would and the woman introduced her to a young man who said his name was Marian

"I'd make a good husband for you and will support you. It's thine you should quit working. What do you say?" he asked her. She said "Yes." and told him she had a little money saved up. "That'll do to start housekeeping with. I know a family that is going to move and they will sell us their furniture and we'll take their rooms," he told her. A few weeks later he took her to 324 Delancey street and introduced to her a Mr. and Mrs. Gerlach as the family about to move. She gave her prospective husband $20 to buy the furniture and $60 more to get a ring and other things for the ceremony. When the night for the wedding arrived a Pole, in troduced as the Rev. Mr. Leschinsky, went through the form of a marriage ceremony but gave no certificate. The woman learned afterward that he was not a clergyman. She gave $25 to her supposed husband to give to the clergyman and paid for the wedding feast.

A few days later her supposed husband asked her for some money to start in business.

The next day he took her to Long Island City and deserted her in a saloon there. City and deserted her in a saloon there. She didn't see him again and remained as a servant with Mrs. Gerlach for two week, when they put her out, saying that her husband had not paid for the furniture. Not long ago she met another Polish woman and they swapped experiences, teaching the conclusion that each had a grievance against Pitvitzky. They went to the District Attorney's office a few days ago and related their experiences. The to the District Attorney's office a few days ago and related their experiences. The Felochinski woman was taken to the Tombs and there identified a prisoner known as Visorki as the supposed clergyman and another prisoner known as Pogorsko as Mr. Gerlach. The two were awaiting trial on another charge. The police of the Fifth street station got Pitvitzky yesterday. He was living at 262 East Houston street with a woman and several children. He was taken to the Yorkville police court and gave the name of Michael Beyers.

The Magistrate held the man in $1,000 bail for trial.

Miss Abraham Engaged to Percy Straus. The engagement of Miss Edith Abraham, daughter of Abraham Abraham of the firm of Abraham & Straus of Brooklyn, to Mr Percy S. GREEN GOODS CASES HERE. Two of the Newark Prisoners to Come to New York for Trial.

United States Commissioner Whitehead borrowed the Chancery chambers in the Prudential Insurance Building at Newark yesterday to hold court in the case of the notorious green goods men captured last week by Inspector Cortelyou of the Post Office Department and the United States Marshal from this city. The principals arrested on Wednesday of last week gave their names as Elmer Brown and George T. Bradford

The former is known as "Kid" Lehmann and the latter as "Nigger" Baker, or "Joe" Baker, the chief of the green goods gang which has been operating in Jersey City and Newark for a year or more. "Joe" Baker is supposed to be the representative of the remnant of the green goods operators in this city.

In complicity with them was "Sammy" Gott, or Gottleib, and his wife of 25 West street, Newark, the house in which the game was worked. Gott has not been game was worked. Gott has not been known to engage in any legitimate business in many years. In his house a lot of satchels, each containing a blackjack of the most approved pattern, was captured, together with a lot of fancy wooden boxes just of the size to contain bank notes.

When the case came up yesterday Cortlandt Parker, Jr., represented the Government as United States District Attorney, and John L. Johnson and Emanuel Lowenstein appeared for the prisoners. Mr. Parker asked for the discharge of the prisoners, who immediately smiled and began chatting to each other about the weakness chatting to each other about the weakness of the case.

In a minute their jaws dropped, because it was announced that the cases were to be transferred to New York upon a much stronger indictment. The cases against Bradford and Baker, or Brown, were trans-ferred to the New York authorities and ferred to the New York authorities and both agreed to come to this city without requisitions. Samuel Gottleib and his wife were held for hearing in Newark on Sept. 20, and their bail was increased upon a charge of conspiracy.

Commissioner Whitehead said emphatically that he would try the case of the Gottleiba after the case of the principals was decided in New York, and he would not recede from his position.

TO INVESTIGATE BAY COLLISION. Board of Pilots Aiready Has Reports on It

-Liguria Will Be Delayed a Month. The New York Board of Pilots will begin an investigation next Tuesday of the collision on Wednesday afternoon between the Italian liner Liguria and the fruit steamer Pilot Kramer of the Liguria Peconic. and Pilot Thompson of the Peconic both filed reports with the board yesterday.

Pilot Thompson said in his report that he did not hear the Liguria's whistle indicating that she was going to starboard. He said it had probably occurred simultaneously with his two whistles, the signal that the Peconic was going to cross the Liguria's bow. Pilot Kramer said that the Liguria whistled first.

The Liguria will be put in dry dock at the Erie basin to-day. It will take about twenty-five days to patch up the holes in her side. She was to have sailed on Tuesday, and the company has no other boat to sail in her stead.

The Peconic will go into dry dock at South Brooklyn. Phelps Bros., her owners, said yesterday that they had every confidence in Pilot Thompson and felt sure it would be shown that the collision was not his fault. he did not hear the Liguria's whistle in-

AMERICAN BAR ASSOCIATION.

John G. Carlisle on the Power of the United States to Acquire Territory. SARATOGA, Aug. 28.-John G. Carlisle of Kentucky and New York city this morning delivered the annual address before the American Bar Association. It related principally to the power of the United States to acquire and govern territories under the present provisions of the Constitution. This evening E. John Jay Nestell's Generous Gift to Orange Y. M. C. A.

ORANGE, N. J., Aug. 28.-The Young Men's Christian Association of the Oranges has received a gift of $5,000 toward the completion of its new building. The donor, John Jay Nestell of New York, has never lived in Orange, but he is a personal friend of Charles T. Kilborne, president of the association, who, in speaking of the new association, who, in speaking of the new building which was erected by Joseph W. Stickler recently, mentioned the fact that the plans of the association were more ambitious than was originally contem-plated and that, liberal as Mr. Stickler's gift was, it had been impossible to com-plete the building fully. Mr. Nestell there-upon wrote out a check for $5,000, which will be sufficient to complete the dormi-tories and to build an additional set of bowling alleys and a running track, but Fifth Avenue Lunch Room Falls. The Hecker Luncheon Company of 172 Fifth avenue made an assignment yesterday to James H. Richards. The liabilities are thought to be about $12,000 with assets of $2,500. Poor business is the cause of the failure. The company began business in March, 1900, with an authorized capital of $15,000. The incorporators were Carlos E. Smith, Charles S. Shepard and James H. Richards. The president of the company now is Charles F. Shirk.

TO BUILD ON STEWART SITE.

SKYSCRAPER PLANNED FOR THIRTY-FOURTH STREET.

The Century Realty Company Increases Its Capital and With Its Ally, the Remington Construction Company, It Intends to Build on Several City Sites.

Announcement was made yesterday that the directors of the Century Realty Company have voted to increase the capital stock of the company, which is now $1,000 .-000, to $3,000,000. Of the new securities $1,000,000 has been underwritten and offered to the present stockholders at 125. The other $1,000,000 will be issued only to purchasers who may be approved by the board of directors.

Besides strengthening its position by this issue of $2,000,000 new capital stock, interests identified with the Century Realty Company have organized the Remington Construction Company, which will start with a cash capital of $200,000. In this construction company the Century Realty Company will have a controlling interest.

The officers will be E. Remington, president; William H. Chesebrough, vice-president; Oakleigh Thorne, treasurer, and W. R. Ellington, secretary.

On the board of directors, in addition to the foregoing, will be H. B. Hollins. Mr. Remington, who is a son of the inventor of the Remington rifle, has for years been superintendent of the George A. Fuller company and, as such, superintended the construction of the Broad-Exchange Building the Fuller Building and other noted structures. Mr. Ellington has been assistant superintendent of the Fuller company.

The new company will do a general contract business and will have all the construction work of the Century Realty Company. It will begin soon the erection of pany. It will begin soon the erection of an eighteen-story office building on a 75-foot frontage owned by the Century Realty Company, on the north side of Thirty-fourth street, adjoining the Knickerbocker Trust Company building.

This parcel includes part of the old Stewart mansion site, and extends through to Thirty-fifth street, where it has a frontage of 25 feet. The A. T. Stewart property was bought about two years ago by Charles T. Barney. Mr. Barney resold the Fifth avenue corner to the Kinckerbocker Trust Company, which is now erecting a building there for its own use. The rest of the Fifth Avenue front was sold to the New York Realy Corporation, and is being improved with a twelve-story office building.

The Century Realty Company's site comprises the remaining part of the Stewart property, besides an additional parcel.

Other important sites owned by the company are the old car stable block of twenty to the Stewart of Steph Avenue, between Fester third pany are the old car stable block of twenty lots in Sixth avenue, between Forty-third and Forty-fourth streets, and a plot of 7,200 square feet fronting a wall. Pearl and Beaver streets, the latter of which will be improved next spring with a twenty-story office building. The company also has a number of smaller holdings, and is interested in the syndicate which recently bought the Paran-Stevens corner at Fifth avenue and Forty-fourth street. The Sixth avenue block was acquired from the General Carriage Company, and has been offered to the Government for a post office site, at $1,400,000.

BRIBED, AND DIDN'T KNOW IT. He Had to Look Up the Rules to Find Out

Several cases of typhoid fever occurred in the Third ward of Bay Side, L. I., several weeks ago. Medical inspectors found that all but three of the households where cases of typhoid existed were served with milk by Charles A. Tilton, a farmer on the Rocky Hill road, two miles from Bay Side. Tilton's daughter had become ill with typhoid on Aug. 3, nine days before the first case was reported from Bay Side.

Henry S. O'Neill and Henry C. Gessner of Jamaica, disinfectors, and John McCabe janitor of the Health Department's building in Jamaica, were sent to disinfect the milkman's premises. Word reached Health the three men had accepted money from Tilton, and that they had also violated the department's rule against drinking while on duty. He summoned them before him yesterday. Tilton also appeared and said that a friend named Thompson left a five-dollar bill on a mantelpiece in Tilton's house and told O'Neill where to find it. The bill disappeared.

O'Neill admitted taking the money.
He divided it, as he said, "pro rata," giving Gessner $1.50 and McCabe $1 and keeping
$2.50 for himself. He said it occurred to him later that perhaps it was against the department's rules to account the department's rules to accept money, and so when he got home he looked in the rule book and found that taking money was prohibited. Then he tried to make Tilton take back the $5. Tilton, however, refused and, threatening to get his shotgun, chased him off the farm.

McCabe, the janitor, denied receiving janitor, denied receiving McCabe, the janito a share of the money.

Commissioner Lederle promptly suspended the three men, pending charges.

SHOE CO. PRESIDENT ACCUSED. Creditors Say He Made Fraudulent State ments as to Its Condition.

Louis Levy, president of the Portia Shoe Manufacturing Company of 341 East Fifty-ninth street, was arraigned in the Yorkville police court yesterday on complaints made by Frank H. NOT THE SWELLEST PLACE IN TOWN, THIS TIME.

In Fact, the Marquis Offers You Luncheon for What Was the Price of a Highball in the Days of His Grandeur-His Falling-Out With Delmonico Recalled.

Richard de Logerot, who once established hotel that was to be the most expensive in New York, has recently gone into the hotel business on a somewhat different plan. He is the proprietor of the Raleigh, a commercial hotel and quick-lunch restaurant at 665 Broadway. The hotel, which has stood there for thirty years or more, has been known by many names. It was called the Bay State House before it was rechristened by M. de Logerot, when he became the proprietor a month how perfect, and at the same time how costly, a hotel might be. He threw together three large private residences, added a dining room and called the place Hotel de Logerot. All the appointments were exquisite and the prices higher than any ever known in this city before. That was an advertised feature of the establishment of the stable lishment. It was as well known as the excellence of the cuisine, for which the Marquis's early training is said to have adapted him admirably.

One story of the founding of the hotel attributed it to the Marquis's desire to found a restaurant in which he could eat as he wanted to. He was not then on terms as he wanted to. He was not then on terms as he wanted to. He was not then on terms with the management of Delmonico's old place, which he made his headquarters for several years. There the Marquis and his wife regularly took all their meals. One day the Marquis suggested that to avoid the necessity of paying after every meal he pay a lump sum of $10,000 a year, for which he and his wife were to be fed. So the agreement was made with the late Charles Delmonico. After that time the Marquis was rarely out of the dining room. At the end of a year Mr. Delmonico refused to renew the agreement, and the Marquis resolved to open a hotel of his own.

BRIBERY CASE EXPLODED. Justice Mayer Dismisses Charges Against Dock Department Officials.

Justice Mayer of the Court of Special Sessions rendered a decision vesterday dismissing the charges of bribery against certain officials of the Dock Department The charges arose last April when the Mayor held a public hearing on the application of the William W. Brauer Steamship Company to have Pier 33. East River. changed into a "closed" pier to be rented to the company. At the hearing it was charged by representatives of the steam-ship company that it was impossible to ship company that it was impossible to obtain the pier desired without the payment of bribe money. The Italian Steamship Company was also after the lease of the pier and finally obtained it.

The name of Michael J. Dady, the well-known Brooklyn politician, was brought into the case, but Justice Mayer says that "there is not a scintilla of evidence pointing to knowledge upon Mr. Dady's part of any scheme to get a lease by the payment of money, nor of any promise upon Mr. Dady's part to engage in any such transaction.

Justice Mayer first rehearses the fact in the case and points out that the Dock Commissioner no longer grants leases of piers but that these leases must be passed on by the Commissioners of the Sinking Fund and adds: "The suggestion, therefore, that any bribe money was necessary is upon its face, absurd, because no officer of the Dock Department had any power to grant this lease." The Judge also says:

"I conclude that there is absolutely no foundation for the accusation or suggestondation for the accusation or sugges-tion made against the Dock Department, but that, on the contrary, the officers of that department did only their duty, fairly and conscientiously. The charge made at the public hearing before the Mayor had for its foundation only the false statements of a man who had no acquaintance or transactions with the officers of the Dock Department or with any other person who
